New Date – When is it?

The new date for NT Careers Live Brighton is the 14 November 2020, at the same venue.

What happens to the registration I have made to attend?

All registrations will automatically be transferred to the new date. No action is required on your behalf, but we will reach out nearer the date to re-confirm your registration.

What about my accommodation/travel/expenses?

It is with regret that Nursing Times and emap are unable to offer any remuneration for expenses already incurred, including accommodation and travel.

Will the same exhibitors be attending?

We will try to move all exhibitors over to the new date, as well as bring some new employers for you to meet on the day.

Will the same content be available?

We will try to move all speakers over to the new date or replace with similar content.

Will I still be able to get a Nursing Times Year of the Nurse badge?

Badges will be available for attendees at the new event. The best way to ensure you receive a badge is to pick one up at one of our events.

I can't make the new date, will there be other events?

Yes, Brighton will return in 2021 around a similar time to the normal schedule this year. Otherwise there will be other events that you can join in London, Birmingham, Manchester, Liverpool and Glasgow. Please keep an eye on the website for the latest information www.live.nursingtimes.net.

If I can't attend an event, is there another way to get in contact with exhibitors?

Where possible, we will include an email contact as part of exhibitor profiles on the website. You can also explore job opportunities that are available on our job site <https://www.nursingtimesjobs.com/>.
